

HECHT & MANN

Don't Delay. Get the Easter Hat To-day!

As a special feature for to-day's Magnet Sale we have selected a choice and stylish line of beautiful New Hats that regularly sell at $7.98 and $9, embracing many exclusive, up-to-date creations for spring. They are all one-of-a-style hats; large, medium, and small shapes—and for the sale they are to be specially priced,

$5.00 Sale of Children's Hats

(Third Floor—Millinery Dept.)

A special purchase of Children's Trimmed Hats, in all the most popular shapes and styles—for children from 6 months upward—all sizes included. There's a large and comprehensive variety of patterns—and all to go at half and third below their actual value.

Children's Hats in Many Styles.

Value $1—at Half Price

49c

Children's Hats in a Great Variety—the Hats Worth $1.50 and $1.98

98c

A Superb Line of Children's Hats at $5.00 and $7.00

WELCOME IS WARM

Fairbanks Greeted on Return from World Tour.

GOVERNOR HEADS DELEGATION

Streets of Indianapolis Are Thronged and People Cheer as Former Vice President and Wife Arrive from Train—Business Party Suspended—Children Given Holiday.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 24.—The home city of former Vice President Fairbanks gave him and Mrs. Fairbanks a generous welcome home this afternoon. Thousands stood on the streets that formed the line of parade and cheered.

Mr. Fairbanks was met by the union station by a committee of citizens, headed by Gov. Marshall, and escorted to the open square, where the national and State military and hundreds of citizens were waiting to bid him welcome. The detachment of United States regulars from Fort Benjamin Harrison, in command of Maj. Van Vleet, with the regimental band, faced the arriving guest on the east side of the square, while the First Battalion, Second Regiment, Indiana State Militia, commanded by Maj. Conde, was drawn up on the west side, with the Indianapolis Military Band in front.

Salutes Are Fired. Proper military salutes were offered as Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks, accompanied by the reception committees, entered the square and moved to the waiting automobiles, decorated with flags.

The movement of the parade to the circle where the chief ceremonies were held was along streets lined with flags and bunting, while from the tops and front of virtually all the business houses in the downtown district the national colors waved.

The parade was led by a platoon of twelve mounted sergeants of police. The United States Infantry, headed by the band, followed the police, while the militia followed the three automobiles carrying the distinguished guests and the receiving party. Following the militia came automobiles with all the committee members in charge of the event and visiting mayors.

Addresses School Children. On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

LAWS DELIVERED TO SUIT HIS CLIENT

Letters of a Lobbyist Astonish Insurance Probers.

DID HE RUN LEGISLATURE?

William H. Buckley, Former Deputy of Insurance, Offered Advance Information of Court of Appeals Decision for Certain Sums, According to Correspondence with Sheldon.

New York, March 24.—Letters of a lobbyist figured prominently at the fire insurance hearing to-day. William H. Buckley, former deputy superintendent of insurance, wrote them at the Albany session of 1909. One was written to George P. Sheldon, chairman of the legislative committee of the New York Board of Underwriters, showing Sheldon how wise it would be for the committee to hire him for work up at Albany.

From February 2, until the legislature adjourned on April 22, Buckley kept up an almost daily correspondence, detailing the progress of legislation. It was his second year as a lawyer, and his first year as a legislative agent. He was avid for retainers, writing down to Sheldon to get him more clients as the session proceeded.

Had Things His Own Way. In one instance Buckley wrote that he and a Gen. Fields got together, and in one evening chloroformed two noxious bills by getting them recommended. He got Sheldon's hearty congratulations. He predicted the death of bills almost to the dot. "I have arranged with the committee on rules to block its passage," he wrote concerning another, and so it went on until he came a requiem at the adjournment. One letter reports the death of the McKee-Foley bill to tax unearned premiums and of all other hostile-to-Sheldon interests, and incloses his little bill for $4500.

Mr. Hotchkiss didn't get far enough in the correspondence to take in the year that followed, when the Grady reinsurance bill was up, and when Buckley's income from insurance companies amounted to $27,000, but he intimated that they would be reached at the next hearing.

Mr. Buckley was so busy that year and seemed to know so accurately just what the legislators were going to do that Mr. Hotchkiss was moved to ask him if he ran the legislature.

Courts Under His Thumb. Not alone was Buckley busy with legislators, but it would appear that he had, or thought he had, access to the opinions of the Court of Appeals before they were made public. Mr. Sheldon, this correspondence showed, felt very aggrieved over the fact that Buckley hadn't let him know what the decision in the franchise tax case was going to be two weeks in advance of its being handed down by the court, so that he and his friends could have made some money in the market. Buckley said that he had known of this decision two weeks in advance, and said that in the future Sheldon could rest assured that no one "can get ahead of us in such matters."

Those loans of Buckley's from the Phoenix in 1909, while Buckley was still third deputy superintendent of the insurance department, were touched upon to-day, and Mr. Hotchkiss stated that, from the way that checks of Edward F. McCall, now Supreme Court justice, had figured in them, it appeared that he had assisted Buckley in deceiving the insurance department. From the correspondence produced it would seem that the Phoenix had arranged for Buckley to take up one of his loans for a short time, so that the loan wouldn't appear in their annual statement to the insurance department.

Judge McCall Explains. Judge McCall says that the loan of Buckley, in which his name figures, was an ordinary business transaction, involving the transfer of a loan from one company to another. He intimated rather strongly that he would like to be called as a witness.

Before Buckley left the stand to-day, Miles M. Dawson, the lawyer and insurance actuary, accused him of having asked Dawson for money with which to bribe legislators in 1906. This Buckley denied.

Ex-convict Sues Representative. Austin, Tex., March 24.—Rome Ellington, a former penitentiary convict, to-day filed suit against Representative A. S. Burleson and C. B. Johns, of Austin, for damages in the sum of $25,000, on alleged personal injuries received while working upon the defendant's plantation during his period of penal servitude.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

Arriving at Monument place, Gov. Marshall made the speech of welcome, and Mr. Fairbanks responded, saying he was glad to be again at home, and that in his travels he had seen no place that looked as good to him as his home city. At the close of the address Mr. Fairbanks was taken by the committee to his North Meridian street home.

On the north side of the Federal Building hundreds of school children were gathered. The parade halted in New York street, opposite the Harrison monument, while Mr. Fairbanks made a few remarks to the children. The schools had been dismissed for the afternoon.

EDITORS DISCUSS SENATORSHIP

Fear of Fight Against Taggart Prevents Definite Action.

Indianapolis, March 24.—Fifty Democratic editors assembled here to-day under a call for a meeting of the executive committee of the Democratic Editorial Association to discuss the suggestion of Gov. Marshall that the Democrats name a candidate for United States Senator at their coming State convention. Friends of Tom Taggart were busy with the editors all morning, and when the committee met it was conceded by the friends of the governor that it would be impossible to push the matter before the State convention, and the subject was not discussed at the meeting.

Those who favored it said that an attempt to name a candidate over the opposition of the Taggart wing of the party, would be sure to result in a factional fight. Others were very emphatic that the party would not poll its normal vote in many of the dry counties if the impression exists that Taggart would be a candidate for the Senate.

The editors took no action in the matter.

MOONLIT PYRAMIDS ALLURE ROOSEVELT

Viewed by Party After Cairo Reception.

Khedive A Cordial Host

While He Listens to Former President's Story of Big Hunt, Khedivah Entertains Mrs. Roosevelt and Daughter in Quaint Oriental Palace—Stop at the Menhous.

Cairo, March 24.—Col. Roosevelt and the party accompanying him arrived here this morning from Luxor, their last stopping place in Egypt. They were met by Lewis M. Iddings, the American consul general; Mr. Straus, the American ambassador to Turkey, and the leading government officials. Col. Roosevelt was given an enthusiastic reception, after which he drove to Shepherd's Hotel, where he received a great ovation from the many Americans staying there. He took lunch at the American agency and was afterward received at Abdin Palace by the Khedive, who warmly welcomed him and listened intently and interestedly to Col. Roosevelt's account of his shooting expedition and of the country he had traversed and the various classes of natives he had met in the course of his journey.

Khedive Returns Visit. The Khedive subsequently returned the visit at the American agency. The Khedivah meanwhile received Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt. Later in the day the party drove to the Menhous for the purpose of viewing the impressive spectacle of the pyramids by moonlight. Extensive festivities have been arranged there in their honor lasting well into the night. The party will remain at the Menhous over night.

Col. Roosevelt is enjoying robust health. He declares that he left seventeen pounds of superfluous flesh in the wilds of Africa and that he feels so lithe as he is that he is spoiling for a tennis match with Sir Eldon Gorst, the British diplomatic agent, who has promised him a game if his time permits.

An article in a native journal by a leading Nationalist, abusing Col. Roosevelt for the speech he made during his progress through the Sudan, has caused the ex-President much amusement.

Dress to Visitor's Taste. Roosevelt's appearance on the streets is awaited as was his arrival at the railway station by Egyptians of the better class. These have adopted Western dress, with the exception that they wear the turban instead of a hat, and the turban is studded with diamonds. She talked with them in French for nearly an hour, asking many questions about the position of women in America.

A great number of Americans are staying at Shepherd's Hotel, where the Roosevelts, who occupy the royal suite, find themselves the objects of so much curiosity and irksome attention that they use the garden entrance to avoid the demonstrations of their fellow-citizens.

Roosevelt to Spend Four Days with Kaiser. Berlin, March 24.—It is learned from an official source that Col. Roosevelt will arrive in Berlin April 12. He will be the personal guest of the Kaiser for four days, during which he will reside at the royal palace. He will be there April 12, 13, 14, and 15.

The statement that Col. Roosevelt will arrive here on April 12 and go direct to the royal palace is not quite understood. At the American Embassy it is not known whether the ex-President will arrive previous to that date, but it has been generally understood that he would arrive here on April 9, and would spend a couple of days with Ambassador Hill before going to the palace.

INSPECTS AMERICAN ART. Kaiser Congratulates Exhibitors at the Royal Galleries. Berlin, March 24.—Emperor William visited the American Art Exhibition at the Royal Galleries to-day. He was met by Herr Kampff, the president of the Royal Art Society, and Hugo Reisinger, who collected the pictures and has charge of the exhibition.

The Kaiser spent an hour and a half in the galleries. He inspected every picture critically and expressed particular admiration for the landscapes of American artists. On leaving, the Kaiser shook hands warmly with Mr. Reisinger, and said, "I congratulate you heartily. It is really a fine exhibition." The Kaiser was so pleased with the art exhibition that he immediately on his return to the Schloss he sent the following telegram to Mr. Hill, the American ambassador:

"I have just returned from the American Art Exhibition and wish to express to you my pleasure at seeing the works of the excellent artists which I have inspected there. WILHELM I. AND R."

MYSTIC CEREMONY OF SCOTTISH RITE

Lights Extinguished Until Easter Sunday.

MORE THAN 700 AT BANQUET

Representative Sulzer Pays Glowing Tribute to Masonry, and High Officers Make Addresses to Supreme Council—Musical Programme Consists of Violin and Contralto Solos.

With mystic ceremonies, Evangelist Chapter Rose Croix, F. A. A. M. last night held its annual banquet, and conducted exercises known as the extinguishing of the lights, pausing in the midst of revelry to venerate the memory of Masons of high degree who have died in the last year.

More than 300 Masons, accompanied by their ladies, took part in the ceremonies. The exercises were held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Third and E streets.

Notables on Stage. On the stage were Fred M. Bock, wise master; Francis A. Sebring, senior warden; Allen Bussard, junior warden; James H. McIntosh, orator; Louis Goldsmith, treasurer; Elmer E. Simpson, secretary; Harry Rothschild, master of ceremonies; James D. Richardson, sovereign grand commander of Southern Jurisdiction; Sterling Kerr, Jr., Rabbi Abram Simon, and Representative Sulzer, of New York.

Dr. George C. Ober, grand master of Masons, spoke of the Grand Lodge of the District. Sterling Kerr, Jr., made an address to the Supreme Council, and Rabbi Abram Simon spoke on the awakening of international conscience.

Representative Sulzer, of New York, kept his audience in a constant state of excitement. In explaining why he arrived late, he said it was on account of the Democratic caucus, that man proposes, but the Democratic caucus disposes. He paid a glowing tribute to Masonry.

The ceremony was interspersed with a musical programme. Mark Lansburgh gave a violin solo, and Miss Sebring entered with a contralto solo. An anthem was sung by the Scottish Rite quartet, composed of Miss Francesa Kasper, Miss Elsie Elita Sebring, Harry M. Stevens, and J. Walter Humphrey, with Harry G. Kimball, organist. Miss Kasper also sang a beautiful soprano solo.

REWARD FOR DOG POISONERS. Humane Society and Kennel Club Co-operate with Police.

With the active co-operation of the Humane Society and the Washington Kennel Club, each of which has offered a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of persons who poisoned dogs in the vicinity of New York avenue, Tenth to Twelfth streets northwest, the authorities are engaged in an effort to arrest the culprits. Orders have been issued by Maj. Sylvester, under which the force of detectives is supplemented by details of policemen in citizens' clothes.

The principal difficulty confronting the authorities is lack of a suitable law to prosecute, as a dog is not legally personal property in the District. At the meeting of the kennel club it was stated that the only chance for a conviction was under the law prohibiting the placing of poison in places where it might be of danger to children and pets.

FRATERNAL SPIRIT SHOWN. Modern Woodmen of America Guest of Mother Camp.

Enthusiased with the effervescence of fraternal feeling, more than 15 members of Washington Camp, 11,664, Modern Woodmen of America, and their friends gathered around the banquet board at the Riggs House last night, and were entertained by a choice programme of music and eloquence.

The affair was in the nature of a complimentary get-together social on the part of the "Mother" camp to the other local camps, of which there are five in the city. Introduced by Toastmaster Robert H. McNeill, three Congressional members of the order, Senator Elmer J. Burkett, of Nebraska; Representatives Albert F. Dawson, of Iowa, and James T. Lloyd, of Missouri, addressed the gathering.

PULLMAN PORTER SPORTS AUTO Taken to Police Court on Charge of Speeding, He Gives Surprise.

New York, March 24.—In the West Side Police Court to-day, when Eugene Debnam, a Pullman porter, of 322 Mott avenue, appeared before Magistrate Corrigan for speeding an automobile, the magistrate wanted know whose automobile it was.

"It's my own car," replied Debnam. He told the astonished judge that he works on the New York, New Haven and Hartford, between New York and Boston. "No doubt you'll be able to furnish this bond then," said the court, as he signed the paper holding Debnam in $100 bond for trial.

FIRE WIPES OUT TOWN. Three Hundred Houses Burn in Mount Hope, W. Va.

Mount Hope, W. Va., March 24.—Two hundred families were deprived of homes and shelter to-day by a fire which swept away practically the entire town. Over 300 homes and buildings were destroyed, with a loss of $200,000, and every one of the 1,500 residents of the village sustained a loss of some kind.

The 200 families rendered homeless lost everything they owned. Only four houses remain intact. So destitute are these families that an appeal has been made to the governor for aid, and a detail of the National Guard, under Lieut. H. B. Cornwell, has been ordered here, together with tents, provisions, and supplies.

WALSH WALKS UNASSISTED. Millionaire Dispel Many Reports of His Critical Illness.

Thomas F. Walsh, whose sudden departure from San Antonio on a special train started rumors that his condition was critical, reached this city yesterday morning and walked unassisted from his train, through the Union Station, to his waiting automobile, and again from the vehicle up the stairs and into his home, at Twenty-first street and Massachusetts avenue.

"Mr. Walsh is a sick man," his business representative, T. A. Wickersham, explained, "but he is in much better condition than when he left Washington, and is in no immediate danger. He is suffering from a form of neuritis in the back of his neck, and while this causes him considerable pain and loss of sleep, it is not an affliction that kills."

Mrs. Walsh, their daughter, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean, returned to the city with the millionaire. When the weather becomes warm the entire family will probably move to an Adirondack resort.

WALSH WALKS UNASSISTED. Millionaire Dispel Many Reports of His Critical Illness.

Turin, March 24.—The Appeal Court has confirmed the sentence of five months' imprisonment imposed on Miss Van Word, who at one time was said to be a cousin of ex-President Roosevelt, for defaming the characters of Maj. Montanari and his wife.

Sounds Odd From a Tailor —"NO DEPOSIT."

But that's what we say to you. And we go still farther and say "Fit or No Pay." We're not running a lottery, but a thoroughly organized and capably peopled tailoring business—where satisfaction is what you pay for—and satisfaction is what you get. Van Doren takes every measure and cuts every garment. Mr. Gatchell gives his personal attention to the woollens. That's a combination that spells S-A-T-I-S-F-A-C-T-I-O-N.

Browns made a hit. We've got the right shades; that's why. Ask Mr. Gatchell to show you the Brown Suitings and the Brown Top-coatings that we're making up for. $30

J. FRED GATCHELL CO.

"Fit or No Pay" Tailors. 928 Fourteenth Street.

MURDERER'S BODY NOT SURRENDERED

Wilmington Coroner Holds It for Full Identification.

BETHEA WAS A MADMAN

South Carolina Man Who Killed Pullman Conductor and Porter Before He Was Shot Created Scenes in Baltimore Before Boarding the Train on Which He Caused Terror.

Wilmington, Del., March 24.—The body of John Henry Bethea, the contractor of Dillon, S. C., who was shot and killed in a battle with the police here last evening, after he had killed Conductor Ora E. Wellman, a negro porter, of Washington, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Royal Blue Limited train, is still at the county morgue here. Messages were received this afternoon by the First National Bank and by John B. Martin, a Wilmington undertaker, from a bank at Dillon, requesting shipment of the remains to that place.

Coroner Gaynor refused to surrender the body, for the reason that it has not been identified. A message was sent to M. E. Medlin, of Dillon, by the coroner, asking him to come to Wilmington and identify the victim. No reply was received. The name "M. E. Medlin" was in a book carried by Bethea, with a request that Medlin be notified in case of accident. The coroner expects some one from Dillon to arrive to-morrow. One hundred dollars was found in Bethea's right shoe.

Other Bodies Sent Home. The body of Conductor Wellman was sent to his home in Philadelphia to-day. That of the porter, Williams, was shipped to Washington.

"I am from Dillon, S. C. Do I look like I am crazy? The Johns Hopkins Hospital says I am too crazy to be treated."

This was the statement of Bethea when he strode up to Daniel O'Neill, clerk for the City Cab Company at the Baltimore and Ohio station in Baltimore about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Bethea had been at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in the morning. O'Neill was positive Bethea had not been drinking. Patrolman Robert Morgan, who saw Bethea at the station, said he acted as though he had St. Vitus' dance.

It was about 7 o'clock in the morning that Bethea appeared at the hospital. Upon the arrival of the clerk the man rushed up to the desk and, in excited tones, stated that he was sick, that he was J. H. Bethea, of Dillon, S. C., and wanted to see a physician at once.

When told that he could not see a physician at once, he became more excited and, leaving the office, paced to and fro in the corridor.

To an interne he said he wanted treatment for stomach trouble, but was told he would have to regularly enter the hospital and prepare for examination. He mumbled to himself some time and then left.

He next made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

He made himself conspicuous at the Baltimore and Ohio station, where he bought a ticket for New York.

EXCURSIONS.

EASTER OUTINGS

Old Point and Norfolk.

SPECIAL RATE..... $3.50 ROUND TRIP.

ON SALE MARCH 25 and 26. Good to return until March 29.

CITY TICKET OFFICE, 720 14th st. Bond Building, 14th and N. Y. Ave. Phone Main 1520.

Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Co.

NEW NORFOLK LINE

$2 One Way STEAMER ROUND TRIP $3

Saturday Excursion, $2.00 Round Trip. Potomac & Chesapeake Steamboat Co. WASHINGTON, 8th st. wharf—4 p. m.; Tuesday, Thurs., Sat.; at Old Point 4 a. m.; Norfolk, 7 a. m.

NORFOLK, Commerce street wharf—4 p. m.; Old Point Comfort, 4 p. m.; Wednesday, Fri., Sun.; at Washington, 6 a. m. Phone Main 602, or Habel's Ticket Office, National Hotel.

Kensington Railway

Cars from 15th st. and New York ave. every quarter hour, pass Rock Creek Bridge, Main Entrance Zoological Park, and Cherry Chase, Connect at Lake with Kensington Line.

ATLANTIC CITY HOTELS.

HOTEL JACKSON

On the ocean front, at Virginia avenue, Atlantic City, N. J. Elevator to street; ocean view rooms, single or en suite, with bath. Beautiful new orchestra, etc. J. H. GORMLEY.

HOTEL RUDOLF</